A Passion for Payroll

Nadine was working in payroll but had yet to become certified. She was a single mom with two young children. She was worried she might not be able to handle going to school while working full time and taking care of her family, however, she knew that in order to do her job efficiently, certification would be an asset. It was her CFO who encouraged her to take the next step. He said it would both benefit her career and the company.

Nadine forged ahead and took the plunge. It took courage and perseverance along with the support of family, co-workers and friends. She did the courses through a combination of online and in-class study allowing her the flexibility to balance her work, family and study commitments. Nadine received her certification and is happy she overcame all the obstacles.

“The Canadian Payroll Association offered me a sense of confidence that I didn’t have before obtaining my certification. Questions asked of me were often answered with ‘Let me look into it for you’. Now, with the wealth of knowledge I’ve obtained through the PCP program I can answer with confidence.”

Nadine finds the challenges of working in payroll rewarding. She enjoys the support of the Canadian Payroll Association knowing her questions will be answered quickly and efficiently. Today, Nadine loves her job and the opportunities certification provides her. She is also proud to inspire others to take that next step and get certified. With a little help, dedication and hard work, getting certified is possible.
